

Janmashtami celebrations turn out to be a rocking affair!

JANMASHTAMI was celebrated on some TV shows like Rajan Shahi's Maat Pitaah Ke Charno Mein Swarg on Colors, which has Vrindavan as the backdrop. A small get-together was organised on the occasion of Janmashtami followed by bhajans and a dahi-handi session. The atmosphere on the sets was cheerful and the cast was in a great mood. Producer Rajan Shahi said, "In Maat Pitaah Ke Charno Mein Swarg Lord Krishna plays an important part. The whole unit bonded like a family and everyone cherished the moments of celebration." On the occasion, Nikkhil Chaddha, who plays Arjun and Dheeraj Dhoopar, who plays Ansh on the show, attempted to break the handi, but fell down. The celebrations took a different turn as people started playing Holi by sprinkling colours and doused each other with water colours.

Tony and Deeya Singh also hosted a Janmashtami celebration bash for the cast and crew of their shows. Eijaz Khan, who was present at the do, was seen indulging in a lot of masti as he broke the dahi-handi with his head. Anas Khan from Choti Bahu donned Lord Krishna's attire, spreading cheer all around. The rest of the cast was seen enjoying themselves to the fullest adding on the euphoria around. "With fests around, we forget that we're working, it's almost as if the entire unit comes together only to celebrate!" said an elated Deeya. An ecstatic Tony, on the other hand, wrapped it up saying, "Hathi, ghoda, palkhi jai Kanhaiyalal ki!"
